This comic is purely fictional.
It is unrelated to any real person or corporation.
Any case of similitude is not intended to allude or to document any historical figure. I repeat, everything is pure fiction.

The story started with that computer science class at the university.

The first row was usually devoid of people.
Even on that day, there were only two persons sitting there.

He chose such a conspicuous place to sit,

yet he's asleep after
ten minutes of class.
Is this guy alright...

Half an hour later

Who can answer
this question?
Raise your hand
if you can!

What a basic question,
so this course doesn't go very deep...

No one wants to answer? Very well,
I'll start calling
names!

Then I'll call... student Blue to answer this!

Student Blue!!

After class

S... student!
Please wait
a moment!

My name is Green.
You're Blue right?

Hm... I think that the XXX algorithm
has a lot of loopholes
when it comes to XXX,
and XXXX...

Yeah, and also...

I think so too!
I believe that...

Right,
especially...

From this point on,
Green and Blue became friends.

When I'm talking to you,
time always seem to go by so quiddly.

How exceptional
it was, to find such a like-minded friend.

I feel
the same.

I:
Get up

WHY?
What a pity!

Did an accident
happen to your family?
Can't you think of another solut...

Shake
head

I'm the one who asked to drop out. I don't want to go to school anymore.

Eh...

Why? You're a top student, there should absolutely be no problem for you to graduate as one of the best in our year!

Hm... That's the exact reason why.

A simple cartoon illustration of a person with a white circular head and a blue rectangular body, sitting and speaking. A large speech bubble is positioned above their head. To the right, the back of another person's head and a green triangular shape are partially visible.

The reason why I came here to study in the first place was because this is a prestigious school where I could learn this country—no, this world's most cutting-edge knowledge.

A simple cartoon illustration of a person with a white circular head and a blue rectangular body, sitting and speaking. A large speech bubble is positioned above their head. To the right, the back of another person's head and a green triangular shape are partially visible.

But now, this school has ran out of things to teach me.

After that, my dear Green, I'll invite you to join my company! Let's change the world together!

At least, let's scare the old fogys of this school!

At evenfall, Blue basking in the twilight looked so exuberant that I was distracted for a moment.

Thank you for your kind offer, but sorry, I can't go with you.

I still want to finish university in earnest.

Ehh~ And I thought that you'd be someone with more foresight.

Can't believe that you're just as by the book as those old fogeys.

Don't be so arrogant!
What right do you have to look down on the professors from the best university
this country can offer?

Don't pretend as if you don't know why!
Don't YOU already know
what's being taught in class as well?!

So what's the point of staying here? To muddle along for a piece of paper? At your graduation, I would already be listed on the market!

Since they're our predecessors in the trade, they MUST have their own merits!

Young people with delusions of grandeur like you are no good!

I think that you're the "no good" one here!

You clearly have talent, but you're not taking advantage of your youth to explore new territories! Instead you're hidebound by conventions and stuck in the old ways!

You should just ROT in this school! Alongside the old fossils!

Then go! I'm not stopping you! Just don't come back later with your tail between your legs, only to get a diploma from the adult college!

Even if I am returning, I'll do so as someone who came to lecture you all!

And so, we parted ways.

This was the last time
I saw Blue on the campus.

A few days later, I heard from the academic dean that he really did drop out of school.

In the end, I didn't even properly bid him farewell. So much for being "best friends"...

I thought that I wouldn't hear any more of Blue. However, I was wrong.

Two years
later

A new operating system named "Blue Sky" was released yesterday
by Blue Corp...

He really did...
start his company...

"Blue Sky" is an operating system
with epoch-making significance.

I dare say,
a year from now on,
the entire world
will be using my OS.

One year later, Green graduated from university with the highest marks in his year.

At the same time, Blue's company was listed on the market.

At the moment, the user share of the "Blue Sky" operating system among computer users was 95%, essentially monopolising the market.

After graduation, I also started a company.
Everyday I'm kept busy until very late.

Through my hard work, my company managed to grow to a modest size.
But it can't even compare to Blue's achievements.

Sigh... maybe it's just like what he said:
In today's market, the winner is the first one who can seize their opportunity.

If I ask him for a collaboration now,
I wonder if he'll accept?

The now-successful and famous Blue, compared to how he was back in the college days, seems somewhat different.

But perhaps this was only a false impression brought upon me by the luxurious furnishings.

Long time no see.

What are you here for?

Ah, I wanted to discuss a collaboration...

Collaboration?

These are some documents from my company.

Our R&D have similar goals, and we share
corresponding markets,
so I wonder if you'll be interested in acquiring us.

I feel very honoured
that you came to me.

But in all honesty—

Your company is absolutely worthless to me.

Gnaw

Blue, just you wait!

You might have won this time,
but you won't forever!
There is no eternal ruler
on the marketplace!

I don't care if I'll have to spend ten, or twenty years.

Sooner or later, I'll be on equal footing with you.
And then, I'll pay you back
what you did to me
twice as much!!

For the couple of years that followed, Green seems to have disappeared from the market, while Blue's corporation went through endless ups and downs.

Boss, the report is out.
Blue Sky 7 OS is performing pretty well!

Oh really,
that's great.

By the way, Green's company is holding a press conference today.

They invited a lot of media, what will they reveal?

You're really something, Green!

Unknown number...

Hello.

Green,
it's me.

I watched your
press conference.

It was very spectacular.
Congratulations.

Thank you.
I really don't deserve
for a celebrity like you to give me a personal call.

Since our last meeting,
I didn't make any more contact with Blue...

No way. You're also a celebrity
now, Green.

I've been waiting for this day for a long time.

Even though I'm very glad that Blue called, we don't seem to have much to talk about.

After all, we haven't talked face to face for so long.

It was Blue who broke the silence.

By the way, how do you see the XXXX and XXXX of virtual reality technology?

Ah, I feel that XXXXX, besides XXXXXX also...

Yes, I think so too! Additionally XXXXX...

It's as if we went back to our old school days!

Right! Everyone else has overlooked XXXX!

Yeah! As for the appropriate strategy in this case...

.....

Trade secret.

... Mm. I think so too.

Silence

As expected, we can't be friends anymore.

After all, the things around us stayed
the same, but we ourselves have changed so much.

... Green, take care.
Again, congratulations.

... Mn.

Ah... Days like those,
They should no longer
be within our reach.

But at last, I can once again
make you see me as your equal!

Don't lose to me, Blue!

From then on, Green and Blue became publicly recognised competitors.

They seemed to have no personal relationship between them.
When they did occasionally meet,
it always took place in public events.

Hehe

Haha

Days like these went by for a long time.
Both Green's and Blue's company launched a great deal of widely popular products on their own.

Until—

Terminal liver cancer.

That annoying
bunch of people
finally left.

Now, about the company's upcoming products for next year...

Mr Green,
someone came to pay you a visit.

But I'm not receiving any more visitors
today?

It's not...
But this person is...

Ten minutes
later

Twenty minutes
later

Still working?

Yeah. I'm worried about the company's second in command. I want to pave the way for him as much as I can.

If only I had someone as capable as you
as my subordinate,
then I wouldn't have to worry.

Hahaha okay,
just recruit me already.

... It seems that I haven't had a proper conversation with you
for so long.

Yeah.

But it surely wouldn't be as lively!

That's true.

By the way,
look at this.

.....

They printed these behind my back,
but I stole a copy.

Keep it
a secret

Wh... what the heck is written in here?!

This isn't like
you at all!

... Sure enough,
although we almost never meet,
you still know me better than they do.

Even if I'm no longer
around anymore,
my company will continue to compete with yours.

Please, for my sake,
live on for a few more years.

Witness this world
where technology
progresses with each passing day at my place.

Mn.

In 20XX/XX/XX,
Green passed away from liver cancer.
Blue did not attend to his funeral.

To think that the only remaining photo I have of us together was cut from a newspaper.

Clink!

Goodbye,
my most respected rival
and most intimate friend...

END

[Epilogue]

Although everybody can see at first glance that this is about Ga and Jo's lives, the events in this story are completely different from actual events, and they purely belong to the author's personal imagination.

For example, these two have never been schoolmates, Jo actually also left off his studies and even earlier than Ga, etc.

Therefore everybody should see this as simply entertainment.
This is just a story ^_^
